Relationship Overview

Monument Consulting was selected to be COUNTRY Financials' contingent workforce office manager for all contracting, SOW Project and SOW Managed Service needs. To help administer the program, Monument Consulting leverages a vendor management system called Fieldglass. Fieldglass is an industry-leading tool that allows Monument Consulting to successfully administer the COUNTRY's contractor workforce.

Communication

The contractor's vendor will be the primary contact for all questions pertaining to the position, responsibilities, and entering time and expenses into Fieldglass. Contractors should ensure they have a point of contact with the vendor in case assistance is needed.

Access to Fieldglass (Only for Non-Technology Workers not in Clarity)

For Non-Technology Resources

Confirm with your vendor if you are required to register in Fieldglass.

Fieldglass is the vendor management system the contractor will use to submit weekly timesheets and expense statements.

Registering in Fieldglass

Once all onboarding has been completed in Fieldglass by the vendor and COUNTRY, the contractor will receive email instructions on registering a Fieldglass account. When registration is completed, the contractor can login with the created username and password.

Technology Contractors will be auto registered in Fieldglass and can access the system via Single Sign On. Technology Contractors will only use Fieldglass to enter expenses.

Updated February 2024

Vendor Code of Ethics (VCOE)

Compliance with the Law

The group of companies comprising COUNTRY Financial ("COUNTRY Financial") is dedicated to conducting business ethically, with integrity and in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations. We expect the same from our vendors. All COUNTRY Financial vendors will comply with the letter and spirit of all applicable laws, rules, and regulations which govern the areas in which they provide services to COUNTRY Financial. COUNTRY Financial will not tolerate its vendors engaging in unethical or illegal behavior in any circumstance.

Conflicts of Interest

COUNTRY Financial employees and representatives must deal with vendors impartially and avoid impropriety in such transactions. COUNTRY Financial makes decisions regarding the selection and use of vendors and service providers based on quality, price, service, reputation, financial strength and other relevant business factors. Decisions will not be based on personal interests, including personal relationships, gifts, kickbacks or other favors.

COUNTRY Financial prohibits its employees and representatives from soliciting, accepting, offering or giving money, gifts, kickbacks, entertainment or other favors or special treatment to or from vendors where the benefit is of a nature that might affect, or be perceived to affect the employee or representative's independent judgment. This prohibition includes gifts, kickbacks, and other favors, whether they are given in advance of business being awarded, after business is awarded, or for the purposes of retaining business. Any business-related meals or entertainment received or provided by vendors must be moderately scaled, reasonable in frequency, and clearly intended to facilitate business goals.

Vendors and their representatives shall not engage in any undisclosed personal or business relationships with COUNTRY Financial employees or representatives. In addition, no undisclosed agreements between a vendor and any COUNTRY Financial employee or representative are allowed. When engaging in business with COUNTRY Financial, including the vendor selection process, vendors shall not deal directly with COUNTRY Financial employees or representatives who hold any Substantial Interest in the vendor's organization or whose family members hold such interest. "Substantial Interest" means having any debt interest in a company or having an equity interest in a company when your holdings (combined with the holdings of family members) equal 2% or more of the equity of such company.

Inside Information

In the course of their work for COUNTRY Financial, vendors and their representatives may be exposed to information about companies and/or individuals that is considered "material" and "non-public." If a vendor or representative is in possession of material, non-public information, they must not trade (buy or sell) any securities of the company or companies to which the information pertains. Vendors and their representatives should consider information to be "material" if a reasonable investor would consider it important in deciding whether to trade a security. They should consider information "non-public" if it is not available to the public or investment community. Vendors and their representatives also must not pass along information to anyone who might use it to trade in securities (known as "tipping").

Information Security

COUNTRY Financial must adhere to several legal, regulatory, and industry information security requirements. One specific requirement requires people developing code to undergo periodic security training to ensure they are familiar with coding security concepts, common vulnerabilities, and risk remediation tactics. To meet this requirement, vendors providing development resources to COUNTRY Financial must require their developers to undergo such training each calendar year.

Interactions with Governmental Entities

COUNTRY Financial is dedicated to honesty and compliance with all applicable laws and regulations in its dealings with governmental and other regulatory entities. When interacting with government officials or agencies on behalf of COUNTRY Financial, our vendors must act with honesty and integrity, and in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing corporate political activity, lobbying, gifts and entertainment, interactions with current or former government employees, and other similar laws and regulations.

Brand name usage

Vendors and their associates must never speak to the public or release documents on behalf of COUNTRY Financial unless expressly permitted to do so in writing by COUNTRY Financial. Vendors are not permitted to use the COUNTRY Financial name or official logo in press releases or other outside communications or provide project- or engagement-specific details of their relationship with COUNTRY Financial to the public without prior written approval from COUNTRY Financial. Requests for such use of the COUNTRY Financial name or official logo must be routed through the appropriate COUNTRY Financial vendor relationship manager.

Vendors must not engage in any act which would bring into question the good name and reputation of COUNTRY Financial. Because it is impossible to describe every potential issue, COUNTRY Financial relies on its vendors' commitment to exercising sound judgment, to seeking advice when appropriate or when in question, and to adhering to the highest ethical standards when interacting with or representing COUNTRY Financial.

Professionalism

COUNTRY Financial supports an environment of professionalism. Vendors must conduct business in a professional manner and adhere to COUNTRY Financial dress code expectations when working on the COUNTRY Financial premises.

Diversity and Inclusion

COUNTRY Financial supports diversity and equal opportunity in employment. We expect our vendors to uphold the same commitment by complying with all applicable laws, rules and regulations concerning discrimination.

COUNTRY Financial is committed to preventing unlawful discrimination, harassment and retaliation. COUNTRY Financial prohibits unlawful discrimination, harassment and retaliation whether it is engaged in by employees, contractors, clients, vendors or others with whom it conducts business. We expect our vendors to provide a similar work environment for their employees, and to report instances of unlawful discrimination, harassment and retaliation if they observe or experience them while conducting work for COUNTRY Financial. Vendors should report such violations to the Code Hotline, listed below.

Confidentiality

COUNTRY Financial will handle information received from vendors in a responsible fashion, and all vendors must handle information received from COUNTRY Financial employees in a similar manner. COUNTRY Financial will routinely request its current and prospective vendors to carry out non-disclosure and other similar agreements. Additional confidentiality and security requirements may be included in contractual documents if the vendor is awarded business.

COUNTRY Financial Property

Vendors may use COUNTRY Financial property and physical assets only with the express permission of COUNTRY Financial, and only to the extent necessary to fulfill the vendor's obligations under its contract with COUNTRY Financial. This property may include, but is not limited to, computers, email, internet/intranet, fax, phone and copiers. Vendors and their employees must comply with all COUNTRY Financial policies regarding the use of such property.

Neither vendors nor their employees can download any (personal or other) software to COUNTRY Financial computers without written authorization from an officer of COUNTRY Financial. Copying or use of unauthorized software may be a violation of federal copyright laws resulting in civil and/or criminal liability. Any user IDs and passwords issued to a vendor, or its employees are for the exclusive use of the intended recipient, and for the specific business use for which they are issued. User IDs and passwords may not be shared with others. Vendors must also promptly report any activities that may compromise the security and confidentiality of any COUNTRY Financial data and/or information systems.
